

PRESENT:

The 2025 Law Enforcement Legal Update

We invite you to join the Miami Valley Risk Management Association (MVRMA) for this year's Law Enforcement Legal Update. The update will focus on topics important to law enforcement, the management of police departments, and liability issues for officers. This session will provide excellent information for Police Chiefs, City Managers, Police Command Staff, and Police Training officers.

The Legal Update will focus on emerging issues and topics specifically requested by MVRMA members — including, among other things, updates to qualified immunity, the role of department policy in Section 1983 liability, public records laws, and issues with facial recognition/predictive policing/AI systems. There will also be a discussion on hypothetical situations, local areas of concern, and what resources should be made available to help police departments moving forward.

Justin Burns
Litigation Partner
Dinsmore

Justin Burns of Dinsmore & Shohl, LLP will facilitate this year's update. Justin is a law director for a Central Ohio municipality, the prosecutor in a local court, and defense counsel for several MVRMA municipalities. He frequently speaks to bar associations and community groups about the Supreme Court of the United States, municipal governance, and qualified immunity. He also facilitates continuing professional training (CPT) and accreditation programs for Ohio's police officers, as well as continuing legal education (CLE) for Ohio attorneys.

Please email TJWhite@MVRMA.com by Friday October 17th with any specific legal topics for consideration or questions you would suggest adding to the discussion.
